Dear Parents/Carers

We are very grateful to our host families for opening up their homes to the foreign students for them to experience British culture, values and lifestyles. Living with host families enables students to become immersed in the experience of an “authentic” way of life. Long after the Erasmus project, many of our students will still have close ties with their foreign counterparts and stay in touch.

From the staff visiting from the other countries the first thing that caught their attention and interest upon arrival was the loving nature of the people, to quote “everyone we met, though we did not know one another, smiled brightly, which relieved the apprehension of being in a strange land”.

Students felt they were treated like a family member and made to feel free, just like at home. They added “we hope that more teenagers, who are eager to experience new country and cultural differences, can get a chance, which is only available when families open their minds and their doors to welcome an exchange student”.

Thank you to The King's School students who made the Erasmus week a truly memorable occasion.

Kind regards
